Lisman Holdings Inc. Acquires Distribution Rights to the Egg Shell Ripper Shelling Eggs is Now as Easy as 1, 2, 3!

WILKES-BARRE, PA – February 22, 2011– Lisman Holdings, Inc, announces the acquisition of the Egg Shell Ripper for North American distribution.

Peeling hard boiled eggs can be one of the most tedious kitchen tasks. The Egg Shell Ripper provides a solution in a simple hand held device. In 3 quick, easy steps your hard boiled egg is clean, intact and ready to use. The Egg Shell Ripper allows for the peeling of hard boiled eggs in less then half the time it would have taken with out it. The Egg Shell Ripper is compact, easy to store and dishwasher safe.

“Lisman Holdings is excited about the acquisition of this new product,” said Jennifer Lisman-Hess, Vice President of Distribution for Lisman Holdings, Inc. “For anyone that makes hard boiled eggs, this product is a must have.” The Egg Shell Ripper is part of Lisman Holdings EZ Egg Products line.

Lisman Holdings acquired the Egg Shell Ripper through InventionHome, the company Richard and Otha Lawless (inventors of the product), engaged to market and license their invention. InventionHome is a division of Jacob Enterprises which is a product innovation resource for manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers and other companies seeking to add or expand products (or lines) through product distribution, acquisition and licensing.

Lisman Holdings is based in Wilkes-Barre, PA and is committed to assisting in the growth of the local economy whenever possible. The Egg Shell Ripper is being manufactured in Scranton, Pa. Packaging for the item is being printed in Wilkes-Barre, Pa, and it will also be packaged locally.
